Wyoming's Costello Grabs Steamtown Crown on Rainy Day

Scott Walsh, Scranton Times-Tribune

SCRANTON — It is a long way from Laramie, Wyoming to Scranton — 1,544 miles by air, 1,696 driving to be exact — just to run 26.2 miles.

Nicholas Costello made it worth the trip.

The 29-year-old assistant cross country and track coach at the University of Wyoming won the 27th Steamtown Marathon on Sunday. He handled cold and rainy conditions to cover the 26.2-mile course from Forest City to downtown Scranton in 2 hours, 21 minutes, 15:27 seconds.

Dylan Gearing, a Berwick native and former coach at Marywood University who now lives in Philadelphia, finished second in 2:23:31.93. Gearing won the Scranton Half Marathon in April.

Unlike Costello, Sunday's race was a home game for Abby Corrigan. The Carbondale native and former Holy Cross High School and University of Scranton standout who now lives and works in Philadelphia made a triumphant debut at Steamtown as the first female across the finish line in 2:40:37.21 (13th overall).

Polina Hodnette of Chicago, Illinois, was second in 2:46:45.88 (18th overall). Seven-time women's champ Heidi Peoples from Clarks Summit was third in 2:51:11.85 (26th overall).

Costello is originally from Franklinville, New Jersey, and graduated from Delsea Regional High School before running collegiately at Colorado State University. His parents still live in south Jersey and his grandparents have a house at Lake Wallenpaupack, so he is very familiar with the area.

"I spent a lot of time there as a kid," Costello said. "It's a fun course and a good event. It worked out with my schedule."

At the start, Costello and Gearing broke away from the field. For the first half of the race, the two ran side-by-side.

Just as they were about to enter the Rails-to-Trails, Costello pulled ahead. With each mile that passes, his margin increased.

"Knowing that the race was downhill, especially at the start, I tried to hold myself back and make sure I was in a good place at halfway," Costello said. "I went through halfway at 70:20-something. That was a little bit faster than I wanted, but I felt good, so I kind of kept that effort."

"By that point, Dylan was a little bit behind me and I was running by myself out in front. I felt really good until the last few miles going up those hills on Electric Street. But I felt good overall. It was pretty fun."

Gearing came off a second-place overall finish two weeks ago at the Akron Marathon, so he came into Sunday's race without any expectations.

"I wanted to do this because it's Scranton and I lived here for a while," Gearing said. "I just wanted to have fun with it and for the most part, mission accomplished. It was a little wet and cold, way colder than I thought it was going to be. I could have used an extra layer, but that's how it goes sometimes."

He would not use that as an excuse, though, for Costello pulling away over the second half of the race.

"I think he made a move," Gearing said. "I haven't looked at the splits, but my guess is he put in a surge. He ran really well."

"I'll be back some day to try to go for the win."

This was Costello's third marathon. In 2023, he ran Grandma's Marathon in June in Duluth, Minnesota, and California International in December in Sacramento.

"This was super fun," Costello said. "My parents were able to be here and help out. That was cool that they got to watch me win."

Luke Myers from Philadelphia finished third in 2:25:05.49. Will Appman of Hoboken, New Jersey, was fourth in 2:26:58.55 and Waldorf, Maryland's Joshua Doughty rounded out the top five in 2:30:30.99.

Top local finishers were Brandon Fleschut of Dallas in seventh in 2:31:59.50 and Archbald's Bryce Sokoloski in 10th in 2:36:21.10.

Carbondale's Corrigan Grab's Women's Championship

Scott Walsh, Scranton Times-Tribune

Corrigan led from the outset, which made her a little nervous. With the first eight miles a gradual downhill, the danger is to go out too fast.

"I was afraid of the hills (toward the end). I knew I had to anticipate that and stay pretty in control," Corrigan said. "But I felt good the whole time. My parents were telling me that Heidi (Peoples) was two minutes behind me, so that was a good push that I needed. I felt even if someone came up behind me, I had a lot left."

Along the way, Corrigan got nostalgic. Running through her hometown of Carbondale. Then, seeing the water station manned by the current Holy Cross cross country team in Mellow Park. When she was in high school, she worked the water station and imagined what it would be like to one day run Steamtown.

"It's just so emotional and amazing, seeing so many people that have been there through your entire running career. It makes it so worth it," Corrigan said. "Holy Cross at Mile 17 had the loudest cheers and all the water and Gatorade I needed. Seeing my high school coach (Charlie Orlando) made me smile and made me proud."

Then, Corrigan hit the final hill by Cooper's restaurant. That's when she realized she was moments away from victory.

"Just being able to push through that last hill and know there is all these amazing people at the end cheering me on got me through that last stretch," Corrigan said.

"Never in my life did I imagine this. It's really great to come back years later and do this thing. I never thought this would be something anywhere near possible. Definitely thanks to my high school and college coaches and my teammates."

Peoples dealt with tightness in her piriformis muscle and wanted to use Sunday's race to see what kind of shape she was in.

"I didn't realize how I was running until I did a 5K on Sept. 1. The person behind me said I was limping the whole race," Peoples said. "So my training has been a little off and I'm on the comeback now. I'm happy with how everything went and now I know where I'm at, what I need to do. I'm registered for Philly (Marathon in November), so see where I'm at here, then if things improve in my workouts, try it and really make that my focus."

She was pleased to see another runner with local ties win the race and joked about possibly passing the torch.

"It's awesome. You always want to see the locals do well and compete at a level like that," Peoples said.

"I would like it, though, to be a relative or family member of mine."

Danielle Wilkinson from Blairstown, New Jersey, took fourth in 2:53:41.35. Scranton's Jessica Hoffman was fifth in 2:59:36.58 and Clare Schoen, also from Scranton, was sixth in 3:00:54.68.

A total of 905 runners and three wheelchair participants completed the race.

The Steamtown Marathon 2024 Testimonials

I have no idea how this does not sell out. It truly is the best running experience I have ever had anywhere in the United States.

D.P. from Scranton, PA

The local communities along the route, and especially the high school students at the start that make you feel like a professional athlete, are worth it alone.

Ryan C. from Kelowna, British Columbia

Came all the way from NC and it was a race to remember! Truly one of my favorite races ever. And I just ran NYC last year so that says a lot!

Rickie G.

This was my best marathon in terms of a quality run from start to finish. The organization was good and the volunteers, every single one of them, were cheerful and helpful. The fans were great too. It was rainy and chilly the whole time and it was really fun.

R. C. from Livonia, NY

Thank you for an amazing race!!! It was my first time at Steamtown and I absolutely loved it!!!! The entire course was amazing; even with the "stray showers" Absolutely wonderful!!!!

Ashley H.

This was a great point to point race. Great and scenic course. Despite the rains the crowds were awesome. I'd sign up again solely for the race director's emails he sent out. Volunteers were great and everything was well organized. Enough food and water stops.

D. M. from Pennsylvania (10/14/2024)

Really great course. Later start than most marathons but good light and visibility. Lots of downhill so better chance to run fast. Lots of rain and cold on race day but beautiful scenery along the river with the leaves changing. The road was a little rough and slippery. Small town feel with the neighbors cheering us on. Great pacers. I ran the first 18 miles with the 3:45 pacer and every mile he would either slightly speed up or slow down to correct. I felt good and ended up running 3:40. Nothing but good things to say about the race.

Marc T. from Colorado

The cheer session at the start line when we got off the bus was pretty wild, I kinda felt like an NFL team getting off the bus before a game

Nicholas T.

The race organizers thought of everything. They have a shuttle that takes you from the finish line to the starting line. You get to wait inside the Forest City high school before the race, which gives you a warm place to warm up and have that last pre-race snack. The race starts with a cannon blast. And all along the way, there were frequent aid stations with water and Gatorade, a couple with gels, and snacks towards the end. There were ample porta-potties and lots and lots of volunteers making sure you were safe and knew the way.

A.Z. from Pennsylvania

Jackie Diamond Stullb

Great race, well organized and the volunteer support was amazing!! Thanks for so many hydration stations

WONDERFUL job as always! So well organized and the best volunteers from start to finish and behind the scenes. So impressive!

Heather D.

Huge thanks to all the volunteers that did an amazing job and all the people that came out despite the weather to support us runners. Very fun race.

Brian W.

Thank you to all the volunteers. They stood in the rain for hours & were smiling & cheering us on & to all the organizers who put together this well-oiled machine year after year. My favorite marathon.....all 27 times what a great day. Thank you Steamtown Marathon.

Patty Chissler Phillips-Pavlock

Thank you for such an incredible event! Every single detail you guys did flawlessly!!!!

Daniel P. L.

Well done. A race put on by runners.

James W.

My first Steamtown and I absolutely enjoyed it. Special thanks goes to all the organizers, law enforcement, medical staff & volunteers for making this amazing race possible. Until next time...

Siew S.

You guys did an awesome job! Thank you!! Great race and excellent fan support despite all the rain. No PR but I was slightly injured going in. Still had a nice BQ.

Jack S.

For a more local marathon it had a feel for a much larger marathon. Everything you want whether you are running your first or have run many. Well organized and great fan support along the way. Very scenic course and would have been even better had it not been rainy and cold which is the exception this time of year. Normally you would expect great conditions. Certainly one of the better courses if you are trying to qualify for Boston. From the beginning when you get to your bus to the waiting area to the starting line. Everything went incredibly smooth. Plenty of water stations along the way. I would highly recommend. Btw, plenty of good hotel accommodations right near the pick up point too which made it very easy.

J.S., Bethlehem, PA

First off, thank you for an AMAZING Steamtown Marathon this year! I'm from Dallas but brought several friends up from Roanoke, Virginia for the race and they are all incredibly impressed with everything. We will be leaving very positive reviews for an excellent event. I've run marathons around the country and the world, and I am extremely impressed and pleased with Steamtown, and not just because I ran a 14 minute PR. Everything was extremely well organised and put together, from pre-race comms to the finishers' food tent. Thank you for a wonderful race!!
